

Fishing in Woolper Creek

Father and Son Back-To-Back Hole-In-One

What are the odds! Lifetime Boone County resident Adam Chaney, 39, and his son, Spencer, 9, had just begun their golf game at Boone Links Golf Course on July 3, 2010 when an incredible feat was realized. Adam, using a pitching wedge, sunk a 112 yard drive into the cup on #3 Ridgeview. While celebrating this accomplishment, his son, Spencer teed up from the red tees and using a #7 Iron promptly sunk his ball right on top of his father's, just under 100 yards. Gary Olliver, who was working on a home nearby, witnessed this incredible stroke of luck.

Adam has been golfing since he was about 9 or 10 years old. In fact, he worked at Boone Links Golf Course during high school and his first summer during college. It was during his employment at Boone Links that he had his first hole-in-one, coincidentally, on the very same hole about twenty years prior. Chaney, a real estate developer with Terrace Holdings, LLC, shot his second hole-in-one at Summit Hills. Adam has been bringing his son to golf courses since he was about 6 years old. Both father and son enjoy the sport and the time it affords them to spend together.

Spencer, who will be attending Long Branch Elementary this fall, is also involved in flag football, baseball and basketball. He has had two formal lessons in his life and this was his first hole-in-one. Excellence is achievable!

Boone County Golf Courses are excited to have been the venue for such a momentous occasion for the Chaney's and we encourage all of you to bring out your son or daughter, father or mother and make some memories for yourself!
