The 2009 “Recycling Resource Guide” for Boone County is Now Available in Hard Copy and Online Editions

The Boone County Public Works Department, Solid Waste Management Division, announced today that the 2009 edition of the “Northern Kentucky Solid Waste Resource Guide” is now available both in hard copy and on its recycling website, www.boonecountyky.org/bcswm/rg06.pdf.

“Our new Recycling Guide provides the latest, up-to-date information and resource directory to help people learn the best ways to recycle. Whether you need this for your home or business, our Recycling Guide is a must read,” said Mary Dickey, Director of the Department’s Solid Waste Management Division.

The Guide includes new information on many topics, including:

- Waste prevention tips
- Directories of places that accept various materials that will be reused or recycled
- Recycling drop-off and buyback centers
- How to prevent or reduce the “Junk Mail” that fills your mailbox
- Facilities that accept hazardous waste
- Tips and resources for purchasing recycled content products

Call the County today at (859) 334-3151 to get a free copy of the Guide or send an e-mail to bhaltermon@boonecountyky.org. Online copies are directly accessible at the following website address: www.boonecountyky.org/bcswm/rg06.pdf.
